

GENERAL PERSHING BIDS FAREWELL TO FRANCE AND SAILS FOR U. S. A.

By John T. Parkerson.

Brest, Sept. 1.—Amidst the plaudits of the French and the affectionate farewells of his officers and doughboys, General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Force in France, sailed for the United States today after a stay in France of over two years. A squadron of warships in the harbor fired a salute as the Leviathan with General Pershing and a number of other American soldiers on board moved from her moorings and steamed slowly towards the open sea.

Among the last of the noted persons to say farewell to the American commander-in-chief was Marshal Foch, Generalissimo of the allied armies. Marshal Foch had motored from his farm to Brest and held a lengthy conversation with General Pershing before the transport sailed. General Pershing thanked the famous French veteran profusely for his felicitations and the parting was a most cordial one. Marshal Foch wished the American soldier god-speed and they repeatedly shook hands. At the final moment the marshal kissed General Pershing upon both cheeks. The farewells between Marshal Foch and General Pershing took place upon the dock of the transport where the two talked for an hour before the Leviathan left.

Marshal Foch said he wished to thank the Americans through General Pershing for what they had done for France and he was extremely laudatory for their services and in his praise of the valor of the American soldiers.

"There is bound to be eternal friendship between France and the United States," declared the marshal at the parting.

The generalissimo said he hoped to visit American as soon as his duties at home would permit him to leave.

When the marshal returned to the dock he stood at the rail and waved until the Leviathan was out of sight.

General Pershing arrived from Paris at 8:30 o'clock. He was met by Marshal Foch, the admiral of the port, the mayor, many military officers and civilian notables. A French naval and military guard of honor was drawn up outside of the station.

After informal ceremonies lasting about 15 minutes General Pershing and his party boarded a naval lighter and were carried out to the big transport.

A French band played the Star Spangled banner as the general went on board the lighter. The decks of the nearby warships were crowded with sailors and officers who cheered and waved.

There was no American guard of honor, but hundreds of American officers and doughboys lined the cliffs overlooking the harbor and waved hats and handkerchiefs. Their cheers came faintly down from the heights to the persons gathered on the craft in the harbor.

General Pershing was accompanied by his young son, "Sergeant" Warren Pershing.

Before leaving Paris General Pershing showed that he was deeply moved by the clash with the congressional committee on war expenditures and treatment of prisoners. The general read the statements issued by members of the committee as he restlessly paced up and down his headquarters. He explained that he thought the request of the committee for him to testify on the last day of his stay in Paris was most unreasonable.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF GEORGE W. WHITMER

Tribute to the memory of George W. Whitmer, assistant trainmaster on the Cincinnati division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was paid by officials of the Pennsylvania system, scores of other railroad men, and many friends, who attended the funeral services which were held at the Whitmer home on South Detroit street, Saturday afternoon.

A special train which was run to this city from Cincinnati carried about 75 railroad men from that city and way stations, and from Pittsburgh, Columbus, Richmond, and other places, came additional people to pay a tribute to the memory of the man who always commanded respect and affection from his associates, business and personal.

The service was brief and simple. Mr. Whitmer's pastor, the Rev. A. J. Kestle of the First M. E. Church, read the scriptures offered prayer and gave a discourse. He read three hymns that were favorites of Mr. Whitmer's, "I Am Going Home to Die No More," "How Tedious and Tasteless the Hours," and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Interment was made in Woodland cemetery, those serving as pallbearers being, John Daly, road foreman of engines; S. L. Mider, of Cincinnati, trainmaster, and William Folger of Cincinnati, assistant trainmaster; Minor Monroe of the claim department of the Pennsylvania lines; Roy

ANNUAL REUNION OF PETERSON FAMILY IS HAPPY AFFAIR

A large representation of the members of the Peterson family attended the annual family reunion which was held Saturday in the grove on what was formerly the Abel Peterson farm, that has been the scene of so many happy reunions. The occasion was of special interest as it marked the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the annual reunion of the family.

Only nine persons who were present at the first reunion fifty years ago were present at the reunion Saturday. They are J. W. Peterson, Isaac N. Peterson, Hannah M. Rader, Mrs. Kate Peterson Harrison, Mrs. Horace McMillan, Mrs. Emma Middleton, Mrs. Ada McKay, John L. Peterson. A large number of the members of the family resided in the immediate vicinity of the picnic grounds at the time the first reunion was held, and owned large tracts of land which had been purchased by the pioneer ancestors of the family, who emigrated from Virginia to that locality in the year 1813.

During the last few years the family has become widely scattered, but the ties of blood and of love still bind them closely together and Saturday eighty members of the family were present and enjoyed a sumptuous picnic dinner and a day of informal visiting.

As is customary at the reunions the early history of the family was reviewed and a sketch of the family, giving incidents of interest in the lives of the members of the family who first came to this county from Switzerland, was read by Dr. W. E. Thornton, of Cincinnati. The family history covers a period of two hundred years and the records are carefully preserved by the members of the present generation of the family.

The grove in which the reunion was held has always been in the possession of the family and has lately been bought by Paul Peterson, a great grandson of the original owner of the tract.

Among the members of the family from a distance who were in attendance at the reunion Saturday, were Mrs. J. K. Martin and three children, John Kell, Donald McKay, and Catherine, from Atlanta, Ga.; C. W. McDonald, of Cottage Hill, Fla.; Mrs. W. P. McGarey and daughter, Marjorie, of Sterling, Kan.; Mrs. G. A. McKay and Miss Nelle McKay, Sterling, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thompson and son Ralph, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Thornton of Cincinnati; Mrs. Grace Peterson Colvin and daughters, Amy Frances Colvin and Mrs. Howard Bryan, of Delaware.

Major-General Charles Muir, commandant of the post, is directing the work of the schools. The army schools here, prior to the war, turned out a general staff that, experts say, did much for the efficiency of our army in France.

THEY'RE HAPPY

Elyria, Ohio, Sept. 1.—"Are we downhearted?" sang the grape growers of Lorain, Erie, Cuyahoga and Ottawa counties, in session to discuss the effects of prohibition on their industry.

"No," came the thunderous reply and straightway they voted to raise more grapes and double the prices on the favorite brands.

The health office officials claim that four mad dogs were found in two weeks, making seven since June 4. Six persons are taking the Pasteur treatment.

The lad, hearing her talking about him, again disappeared. The police began a search for him.

SAVE MAN'S LEG BY GRAFTING SHEEP BONE

Carrollton, Mo., Sept. 1.—With the grafting of the bone of a sheep on the shinbone of Sam Williams, a farmer of Miami Station, near here, the necessity of imputating the limb was removed, and Mr. Williams will be as well as ever, doctors say. Following a fracture of the shinbone necrosis set in and amputation seemed necessary. At a local hospital four inches of the bone was removed and two pieces of bone taken from a sheep's leg grafted on. The graft is proving successful, and the leg will be saved.

EVERY TRAIN AND CAR BRINGS SOLDIERS AND VISITORS TO XENIA

The first train into the city Monday morning carried a full load of soldiers and home-folks coming to help celebrate Greene County's Home Coming Celebration.

Before the day had well begun it was anticipated that the crowds in the city would be enormous and each succeeding train carried more celebrators to the affair. The service men began registering early and the registrars were kept busy during the hours of registration.

The men also secured their government buttons and honor badges and added them to the decorations on their uniforms. By far the majority of the lads were in uniform and the streets were crowded with khaki and O. D. clad soldiers, mingled with the forest green of Marines and the blue of sailors.

Early indications were that the day would be the biggest in the history of the county.

SALVATION ARMY SERVED 12,000,000 MEALS LAST YEAR

Last year the Salvation Army gave away over twelve million meals. When it is considered that nobody comes to the Salvation Army for food until he or she is indeed in the extremity of need one can conjecture only what a great distress was relieved by this food which was furnished without money and without price.

Beds were furnished to an almost equal number which otherwise would have slept in parks or police stations. The daily work of the army is inspired however by a purpose more important than merely filling a stomach or providing a place to sleep. Every Salvationist works with the purpose in view to fit the recipient of relief to re-enter the arena of life and fight a winning battle. It is not enough to clothe a man or woman. Until that one is again a productive and law abiding member of human society the Salvationist regards his work as only half done.

NEED UNDERTAKER NOT A DOCTOR

Dayton, O., Sept. 1.—"You'll need an undertaker when I get through," this, police say, was the reply of Delia Connerston, thirty, to her husband Frank, when he pleaded for a doctor after she had shot him five times.

The wife then secured a razor, according to the police, and almost severed Connerston's head from his body.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL MAKE AN EFFORT TO END STRIFE IN INDUSTRY

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson in a Labor Day message to American workers announces that he will call in the near future a conference of representatives of labor and putting the whole question of wages upon another footing.

The Labor Day message, as made public at the White House, follows: "I am encouraged and gratified by the progress which is being made in controlling the cost of living. The support of the movement is widespread and I confidently look for substantial results, although I must counsel patience as well as vigilance because such results will not come instantly or without team work."

"Let me again emphasize my appeal to every citizen of the country to continue to give his personal support in this matter, and to make it as active as possible."

"Let him not only refrain doing anything which at the moment will tend to increase the cost of living, but let him do all in his power to increase the production; and further than that let him at the time himself carefully economize in the matter of consumption."

"By common action in this direction we shall overcome a danger greater than the danger of war."

"We will hold steady a situation which is fraught with possibilities of hardship and suffering to a large part of our population; we will enable the processes of production to overtake the process of consumption, and we will speed the restoration of an adequate purchasing power for wages."

"I am particularly gratified at the support which the government's policy has received from the representatives of organized labor, and I earnestly hope that the workers generally will emphatically endorse the positions of their leaders and thereby move with the government instead of against it in the solution of this greatest domestic problem."

"I am calling for as early a date as practicable a conference in which representatives of labor and those who direct labor will discuss fundamental means of bettering their whole question of wages upon another footing."

President Wilson has been asked by the United Mine Workers of America to order a federal investigation of the alleged "murder" August 26 of an aged man and a woman at the Allegheny Steel company's plant at Brackenridge, Pa., by the companies mine guards "disguised as a guard."

Secretary Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor today made public the text of messages sent to the president by John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers and Phillip Murray, president of the organization western Pennsylvania district, urging a thorough investigation to fix responsibility for this crime.

One of the alleged victims, a miner, was overtaken by a deputy while walking peacefully down the street. Mr. Murray charged, and beaten into a "helpless pulp" after which another deputy fired five bullets at the man. A few minutes later, another deputy was ordered by the superintendent of the mine, the message charged to "kill" Mrs. Fannie Selling, an organizer, sent into the district by the United Mine workers, who standing nearby, it was said, had appealed to the deputies to spare the aged miner's wife. At the superintendent's order, it was said, Mrs. Selling turned to flee and was then shot in the back and killed by one of the deputies.

Previous to the alleged killings, the deputies it was charged, had "opened fire on a number of men, women and children, who were grouped around their homes."

In response to a telegram received today from Mr. Lewis, Mr. Morrison said he would endeavor to secure a congressional investigation of the trouble.

PUMPKIN SHOW SCHEDULED AGAIN

Delaware, Sept. 1.—Now that the war is over, Delaware's annual Pumpkin Show is to be resumed in the streets here on October 16, 17 and 18. This show has achieved a nationwide reputation because of its uniqueness as an agricultural fair.

INDIVIDUALS WILL SOON OWN AIRSHIPS

Mansfield, Sept. 1.—That it will be only a very short time until there will be hundreds of individually-owned airplanes in Ohio is the belief expressed by local enthusiasts.

They point out, however, that progress along this line will be governed largely by the activity shown in establishing flying fields throughout the state.

Cities urged to enlist in a campaign for these fields include Mansfield, Newark, Piqua, Lima, Kenton, Findlay, Hamilton, Conneaut, Canal Dover, Martin's Ferry, Zanesville, Urbana and Cambridge.

EAST LIVERPOOL AFTER SPEEDERS

East Liverpool, Sept. 1.—As a result of the utter disregard of repeated warnings by the police against auto speeding, an ultimatum has been issued by Police Chief McDermott.

Manslaughter charges will be preferred against auto drivers accused of responsibility for deaths resulting from auto smashes.

Stern measures will be resorted to in the cases of persons who round dangerous curves at street intersections on "high."

FROST HITS OHIO'S CIDER APPLE CROP

Cambridge, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Not only is Ohio dry, but the Buckeye State's weather seems "dry."

At any rate, a severe crimp was put into sources of "wetness" in this county when a late frost hit the cider apple crop hard.

Guernsey County devotees of Bacchus who failed to lay in one of the "best s(c)elle(a)r's" in their homes before the state became—legally, at least—arid, contemplated bottling up plenty of the juice which with age displays a "kick."

Cider may sell at 60 cents a gallon it is hinted.

MAKES SUPREME SACRIFICE TO SAVE HIS TRAIN

Cleveland, Sept. 1.—Leaving a joint celebration of the sixtieth birthday of his wife and the safe return of his son Harry, reported killed in action in action in France, Engineer Thos. J. Sankey went to his death last night and in so doing saved the lives of several hundred passengers on the New York Central 20th century limited.

Engineer Sankey took out the fast train he has piloted for years as usual last night and was speeding along about a half mile east of Painesville when he saw a freight train moving slowly eastward on a parallel track buckle. The freight cars were flung across the path of the on-coming express. Engineer Sankey in a flash realized the situation and applying the emergency brakes appreciably lessened the speed of the flying passenger train. There was not time to make a complete stop but sticking to his post Engineer Sankey brought the long train of humans to a stop just as the engine nosed into the scattered wreckage.

He had made his supreme sacrifice in saving his train. Flying timbers from the freight wreckage struck him as he leaned out of his cab to better size up the situation. His first accident in 45 years service for the New York Central was his last one. The express train continued its way as soon as the tracks were cleared, with a new engine.

"It was the only way he wanted to go—on duty," sobbed his wife who was told of the death of her husband as the family celebration was about to come to a close.

OHIO SOILS NEED GREAT DEAL MORE LIME THAN IS USED

Ohio needs five million tons of lime stone annually to replace what is lost by soil acids, leaching and tile drainage, and cropping according to soil specialists of the Ohio State University. Thus far, less than 200,000 tons have ever been used on Ohio soils in one year. Drainage removes from 200 to 800 pounds per acre each year. Four tons of alfalfa removes 390 pounds; three tons of red clover 230 pounds; two tons of soy beans, 180 pounds, and two tons of timothy 25 pounds.

While the tile drainage removes limestone, the soil specialist do not suggest eliminating drainage, as its benefits are greater than the loss that it occasions. They say that both drainage and the application of limestone are necessary.

DOLLARS FOR DOUGH-NUTS IS THE SLOGAN

"Dollars for Doughnuts" was the slogan enthusiastically adopted by a big meeting of young women from the local girls societies held in Christ Church Parish House Friday evening where plans were made for the Salvation Army "Tag Doughnut" today. Mrs. Earl Lawson was unanimously chosen chairman of a committee of five which will complete detailed plans by which upwards of one hundred workers will sell "Tag Doughnuts" for the Salvation Army at the home coming celebration. The other committee members are Miss Lucia Tenner, Miss Mildred Confer, Miss Schaefer and Miss Julia Wolf. The hearty co-operation of one hundred workers was pledged at the meeting and the young women only await the committees instructions. Headquarters for the "Taggers" will be in the offices of T. J. Zell, chairman of the local campaign committee. The work of the Salvation Army here and overseas was explained by organizer Captain R. A. Beard, 135th Field Artillery, who related experiences during the big war.

The personnel and temper of the big force of Tag Day workers promises results of a surprising character and if Green county does not go over the top with a bang on today in the Salvation Army campaign it won't be in any degree the fault of the organization which Captain Beard declares to be the best he has yet seen in the army's present campaign. Practically all church denominations and girls societies here were represented at the meeting which was attended by the Reverend and Mrs. Herron, through whose courtesy the use of the parish house was extended.

By a Certain Blind Poet.

The little girl who inquired at a library for "The Four Horses in the Eucalyptus" had lots of company in that sort of blunder. EARTHS IN SOLAR SYSTEM

Thousands of Asteroids, Mostly Small, Known to Be Swinging Around the Sun.

Swinging around the sun between the planets Mars and Jupiter there are more than a thousand little earths, ranging in diameter from three to 450 miles. These are known as the asteroids, and although they pursue their individual ways in the solar system much like our own globe they are too small to support any sort of life, being unable to hold an atmosphere.

From time to time new asteroids are discovered, not by astronomers patiently peering at the heavens through a telescope, but by means of the photographic plate. A thousand have already been found, but it is likely that thousands of smaller asteroids remain to be discovered.

The four largest asteroids, Ceres, Pallas, Vesta and Juno, are respectively 483, 304, 243 and 118 miles in diameter. A few more asteroids may exceed 100 miles in diameter, but the great majority are simply huge rocks five miles or less in diameter. Unlike the major planets, the asteroids are not spheres, but simply jagged rocks, huge mountains hurtling through space, whirling round and round on their axis as they journey about the sun.

Possibly, as some have suggested, they may be the larger fragments of periodic comets of unusual size that have in the course of ages been shorn of their appendages.

LIKE GEM IN RARE SETTING

Lake Kluahne, Close to Arctic Circle, Is Beautiful Spot Seldom Visited by Man.

Lying amid the heights of encircling mountains as a mere dewdrop in a titanic crinkle of the continental surface, is the 50-mile length of Lake Kluahne, once reputed source of the Yukon, flowing from it 1,200 miles or more north, northwest and southward to Bering sea. Barely 350 miles south of the arctic circle, southern boundary of perpetual snow and ice, it is compassed about with mountain ranges and peaks rising abruptly from its waters, says Christian Science Monitor.

The shores of the lake are bare of vegetation, save for the dwarf birch and the hardy northern willow, tundra grasses and lesser brush.

Lapped in the perpetual silence of the unpeopled North, sternly isolated, untouched by human presence, save for at long intervals a casual Indian or passing prospector, Lake Kluahne has in its very silence and sternness of aspect a beauty of that hardly expressed, indefinable, but none the less deeply felt nature which, conscious of it or not, is a main factor in holding the prospector or other man of the open places in his wandering ways. In the sand deserts of the South, or the mountain wilderness of the extreme Northwest alike.

Diamond Setting.

The following method of setting diamonds has been found to be the best: First drill the hole for the diamond to the usual depth, a little deeper than the greatest dimensions of the stone. The drilling should be done without lubricant, as oil of any kind tends to prevent the spelter from flowing smoothly.

This being done, the hole should be closed in slightly, just enough to make it out of round. The spelter is now poured into the hole, filling it completely, and the diamond, held in a pair of tweezers, is pushed into the liquid spelter in the hole until it strikes the bottom. In doing this an amount of spelter equal to the displacement of the diamond is pushed out of the hole, and when this drop of spelter makes its appearance it is certain that there are no vacant spots under the stone.

After the spelter has cooled the end of the rod in which the diamond is located can be shaped up in the customary manner. The fact that the hole is slightly out of round prevents the core of spelter from working out of the end of the rod.

Introduced Lilac to Europe.

There are men who in a lesser sphere have been givers of gifts which are enjoyed by millions, though their own names may have slipped out of the memory of the world, says the Boston Transcript.

Such a man was Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq. He was born in the pleasant town of Comines, in Flanders, now half French, half Belgian, with the River Lys between, almost four hundred years ago and educated in a university at Louvain which now, alas, is laid low. Busbecq was a collector, and when he was sent by the Emperor Ferdinand as ambassador to the Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent, on his return brought manuscript and coins and plants home to Vienna. And among these plants was the lilac.

Ancient Battle Standards.

It is probable that the first flag was carried by the Sarmatians in their battles with the Crusaders, the latter adopting the idea, which thus spread over Europe. Long before that there had been national standards, however, as the ancient Egyptians carried, before their hosts the figure of a sacred animal on a spear. A stuffed cat impaled on a stick was the forerunner of the banners now used. In the days of the old Persian empire a blacksmith's apron was carried aloft at the head of the army, while the standard of the Turks was a horse's tail.

EIGHT KILLED IN RIOTING IN KNOXVILLE

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 1.—With eight dead, two whites and six negroes killed in intermittent rioting between the races here since Saturday night, the fourth regiment of the Tennessee national guard and more than 1,000 special deputies are today patrolling the streets, machine guns mounted at vantage points and prepared to put down any further fighting.

In the meantime, a score or more white men, all heavily armed are reported enroute to Chattanooga seeking Maurice Mayes, negro, accused of attacking Mrs. Bertie Lindsey.

MINISTERS PRESENT APPEAL CONCERNING CHILD WELFARE

"The back to school drive" a nation wide movement of reconstruction to return to school promptly for the entire year all children of school age, and to keep both boys and girls in school, through the high school course, is being placed before the people by the Ohio Committee on Child Welfare.

Miss Lucia B. Johnson, secretary of the Ohio Committee sent out an appeal to the church people of the state, which was made in Xenia yesterday through all local ministers who could be reached. They set forth the object of the movement to their congregations, and urged co-operation.

The movement originated in conditions incident to and following the war, first because of the amazing percentage of illiteracy among men drafted into the United States Army, and secondly, the necessary extension of the employment certificate privilege during the period of the war to children of families whose financial head was in the service.

Since the Greene county Committee on School Welfare has as yet no permanent secretary, all cases in need of any sort of help for return to school should be reported to Miss Bertha Trebein, chairman of the county committee on School Welfare, 1225 North Detroit street, Xenia, or Miss Helen Boyd, chairman of the publicity committee on School Welfare, the Dodds Apartments, Xenia.

Handy and handsome program booklets of the Soldiers' Home Coming Celebration were issued to people Monday.

The booklets were compiled by William Knox and printed in three colors. They contained a complete program of the day interspersed with merchants' advertising.

The booklets were prepared as a souvenir of the day and will be kept by many as mementoes of Greene County's celebration in honor of its soldier sons.

HEADACHE

Caused by

Acid-Stomach

Yes, indeed, more often than you think. Because ACID-STOMACH, starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, bloating and gas, if not checked, will eventually affect every vital organ of the body. Severe, blinding, splitting headaches are, therefore, of frequent occurrence as a result of this up set condition.

Take EATONIC. It quickly banishes acid-stomach with its four bloat, pain and gas. It aids digestion—helps the stomach get full strength from every mouthful of food you eat. Millions of people are miserable, weak, sick and ailing because of ACID-STOMACH. Poisons, created by partly digested food charged with acid, are absorbed into the blood and distributed throughout the entire system. This often causes rheumatism, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble, ulcers and even cancer of the stomach. It robs its victims of their health, undermines the strength of the most vigorous.

If you want to get back your physical and mental strength—be full of vim and vigor—enjoy life and be happy, you must get rid of your acid-stomach.

In EATONIC you will find the very help you need and it's guaranteed. So get a big box from your druggist today. If it fails to please you, return it and he will refund your money.

SOLDIERS WILL HELP BOOST THE DOUGHNUT SALE

Those paper doughnuts which the girls of Xenia will offer at the Homecoming celebration in exchange for a contribution to the Salvation Army may not be good to eat but they cannot be despised on that account for they commemorate the really and truly doughnuts which were fried under shell fire in the trenches of Flanders and which on many memorable occasions constituted the only food the American soldier had. A typical instance of how those war time doughnuts were made and served is told by a returning trooper. He tells of two Salvation Army lassies who were frying doughnuts in a place so close to the enemy that their lives were in constant danger. The officer commanding the troops at that point asked them to move back toward the rear so as to lessen the danger.

"We have as much right to die here as you have" replied one of the girls and the boys had their doughnuts and coffee that day as usual.

HIGH MILEAGE TIRES NEED CARE

"Don't neglect your tires just because they stay up and give you long service."

"In these days when the science of manufacture has progressed to the stage where high mileages, unknown in the earlier days, are now the general rule, it is convenient for many to drive recklessly along without thought or regard for their tires."

"Tires need attention the same as your motor. They need to be properly fitted to the rim and wheel. They must be aligned regularly. Cashes and cuts picked up on sharp stones or trolley switches should be treated and cared for like any wound. There's a way to do this at a cost of only a few cents. Any reliable tire dealer can provide you with Fillicut and show you how to use it."

"Look out for those little things regularly, make a habit of it, and you'll add many more miles to your tire life and obtain the full service that modern tire construction builds into your casings."—Service Manager of the Fisk Rubber Co.

AL DROP IN LIVESTOCK PRICES.

between the eyes, has come a sensational drop in pork, to our raisers this last week. On the price at Chicago was about or above $21, and in for four days had dropped $3. And cattle and sheep, in Lathy with the crusade against Co. C. L., have also lost out in fact, as the dispatches "the market was paralyzed."

The packers, with thousands of pounds of high-priced meats endangered by the public rebellion against profiteering, were not inclined to start a downfall of retail prices by selling at the new low rate. At the time, experts are convinced that before the gathering flood of bought livestock, the cost of meat the retail market must break down in the next few days.

At present the situation is one which is equally unprofitable for the packers, the raisers and the public. The stockmen are pretty sure to lose money if they sell, because they have paid high prices for the stock on which the stock was raised. The packers are faced by a certainty of a break in the price of retail meat will net them a loss on the great quantities of meat they have in store, for which they paid at the high prices of a month ago.

The public learn that the price of pork and beef is falling at a word-breaking rate, but on going to the butcher shop discovers the price, the movement cannot be a reduction of prices.

After the price of retail meat Helen V the decline, which is certainly overstocked market, dealer experts declare, on the firm with which the public main-miles present refusal to buy at exorbitant rates.

At the same time livestock men pped in exceptionally large lots of hogs and sheep. Many of m believed that prices were about to go down. Others feared a railroad strike. They rushed their stock market and glutted the yards.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS.

EVERETT EXPLAINS TO SANDRA CHAPTER LV.

When I found the little apologetic note gone, I fairly raved in my disappointment and anger. That I should so have humiliated myself, and for nothing! I rushed into my own room, almost knocking Mrs. Gray down as she passed me in the hall.

"Why, what is it?" she asked, staring at me.

"Please come to my room. I want to ask you a question," I panted.

"What is it?" she asked with real concern in her voice after I had closed the door.

"I was she—the first, Mr. Graham's first wife, was she awfully smart and I she read and study after she was married?"

"She was smart, yes, very bright and witty. But I don't think she studied much after she was married. She read a good deal though—mostly novels."

"Did she give up all her young friends and stay at home?"

"Why—no—she had a good many who came here, and whom she visited. May I ask you why you are making yourself unhappy over these things, Mrs. Graham?"

"I want to do as she did. Mr. Graham admired her. I would like to know all she did to win his admiration." I answered, my pride uppermost for once. I would not complain, although I knew well enough that Mrs. Gray realized that something out of the ordinary was the matter with me.

I determined not to go down to dinner. I told Mrs. Gray my head ached, and asked her to excuse me to Mr. Graham. I would have some tea and sleep.

About ten minutes after she had left, and while I sat dismally out of the window, seeing because of my tears, Everett came in. I said, hastily drying my Gray tells me you wish to be from dinner. If you are Sandra, I will gladly excuse if you are simply giving way because you can't go to tea. Sloane and her guest, I expect you in your place as usual." Then, without waiting for any reply, he left me.

There was no use to pretend with him. He saw through my every subterfuge. So I bathed my face, and dressed, then joined him at the table. As usual with him, he made no reference to what had happened but talked easily upon different subjects. Then, after we had finished our coffee, he said:

"I will explain the course of study I have laid out for you." He drew a chair for me and one for himself up to the library table. Then he took from his pocket a folded paper on which were list, of books, and the hours to be devoted to the perusal or study of each subject.

Shamed, embarrassed tears filled my eyes. I had graduated from high school, and had been one of the first scholars in my studies. He noticed and said:

"I trust we are to have no trouble about this."

"That shows your childishness. I would give a great deal if I had the time to take up a course of study."

It was on my lips to say that if he remained away from Mrs. Barton's and the club he would have the time, but instead I said nothing—just cried softly.

"May I ask you one question, Everett, and will you answer me?"

"Yes."

"When you were age, 19, didn't you want any young company? Were you contented to be with older people all the time? And when you were asked somewhere just with two boys your own age, wouldn't you have felt badly to be told you had to stay home and study?"

"It seems to me you have asked three questions instead of one. But I will answer 'yes' to all of them all. But that was because I did not know at that age what was best for me. What I do for you is because I am trying to make your future happy." I said no more. What was the use? But I cried myself to sleep.

The next day Mrs. Barr came. But I disliked her from the moment I saw her, and instead of listening or trying to understand the lesson in French, I was thinking of Mrs. Sloane and her charming niece Marion, and wondering what they thought of me for not coming after my promise.

Had I known Barrett Edmonds was with them, and that they had told him I had accepted then excused myself, I would have been more chagrined than I was.

To-morrow—Mrs. Gray Gives Sandra wise Counsel.

REQUIRES 39 DAYS FOR COW TO FURNISH FAMILY'S MILK SUPPLY

It takes 39 days for the average Ohio cow to produce the annual milk supply for the average Ohio family. The average family of the state consumes 68 1-4 gallons.

In order that the cow may give this milk, she must be fed 3-10 more of pasture, 635 pounds of silage, 48 pounds each of cotton seed meal and oilmeal, 49 pounds of corn, 50 pounds of oats, 190 pounds of hay, 106 pounds of corn stover, and three pounds of salt. In the bedding 176 pounds of material are used. It takes a man 18 1-5 hours to milk the cow 78 times during the 39 days and for her care. Among other items entering into the cost of milk, aside from the original investment, are the upkeep of the dairy, barn and its equipment for feeding and watering, the herd, taxes, insurance, veterinary service, and transportation of milk to country and thence to city milk plants, where the milk is clarified, tested, pasteurized, iced, and put into sterilized bottles. It then has to be delivered by the milkman, who must be ready, rain or shine 365 days in the year.

At 15 cents a quart the annual milk bill for the average family for 68 1-4 gallons is $40.95.

Loyalty of the people of Greene County is due the home merchants. These merchants at all times endeavor to please the people in their respective communities. It is the retail stores about which communities are built. In order to prosper these stores need all the business there is in their respective territories and the buying public should give them all their trade instead of dividing it with mail order houses or by patronizing traveling wagons from nearby cities. If these mail order houses or outside wagons could give the buying public more for their money or better goods there would be some reason for outside buying. But when the matter is carefully considered the home merchant can give just as high class goods and when everything is considered his prices are lower. If you buy from a wagon representing an outside concern you are often given premiums but in the end you will pay for them in hard cash. When you trade with a mail order house you must add the cost of freight or express to your purchase which in most cases makes the article cost more than your home merchant charges.

LIBERAL CITIZENS IN XENIA AWAY BACK IN THE YEAR 1842

Sixteen dollars and thirty cents was contributed by the citizens of Xenia to defray the expenses of the visit of the Highland band to this city July 4, 1842.

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINTY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city.

"But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and snuff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcine say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

If Your Nerves Are Shaky Because of Over-Indulgence in Tobacco or Alcohol or by Excess of Any Kind, Bio-Feren is What You Need Right Away.

Don't grow old before your time, don't let nervousness wreck your happiness or chances in life. The man with strong, steady nerves is full of vigor, energy, ambition and confidence. You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keep mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition. All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

effects of the late J. W. Shinn by his daughter, Mrs. T. C. Wolford, following the death of Mrs. Shinn.

Mr. Shinn died at the age of 98 years. During his young manhood he was employed by a firm of Hivings in this city, his duty being to carry silks by saddle-bags from Philadelphia on horseback. Later he was a member of the firm.

The list of contributors to the band fund, found among Mr. Shinn's papers is as follows:

We as citizen of Xenia to pay the amount annexed to our names for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the Highland Band here on the 4th of July, 1842.

STREET DECORATIONS DAMAGED BY STORM

A heavy rain and wind storm that swept over Xenia Saturday night played havoc with Home Coming decorations which were put up during the past few days.

Fortunately, however, the decorations were not damaged beyond repair and Fred F. Graham, who has the decorating contract, had workmen on the streets Sunday repairing the disordered decorations.

The big white pillars along Main street, withstood the small gale that blew but the flags of the nations on top of them were disordered and some of them blown down. Flags and bunting on places of business in the business section and strung across the streets were in some cases torn completely down and had to be replaced, and in other cases were left barely hanging after the storm had passed over.

SOCIETY FINDS NEW WAY TO WASTE TIME

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 1.—Fishing from seaplanes is the latest sport of society leaders here. Craft owned by Loughhead brothers are often used and with their load of human freight of from six to ten persons sail out from shore, rise to several hundred feet and finally alight on the water at the fishing banks ten miles off this city. Good catches have resulted from every trip. Society prefers the seaplane to the launch, saying it is speedier with less danger of mal de mer such as parties might experience in a boat.

KANSAS PROFESSOR GETS WILSON'S OLD JOB

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 1.—A Kansas professor for President Wilson's old job! No, not at the White House. Just at Bryan Mawr.

Professor G. H. Derry, a member of the faculty in the department of economics at the University of Kansas here, will leave at the end of the summer session to take charge of the department of economics at Bryan Mawr, where President Wilson formerly had charge in his earlier college work years.

HIDS HIS BOOZE UNDER AN OLD HEN

Macon, Ga., Sept. 1.—Three gallons of contraband whiskey was found in a hollow stump, under a nest in which a hen was setting on eggs in a box when Deputies E. C. Pierce, Ed Newberry and F. C. Tindal raided the house of R. F. Hayes, in Laurens County, recently. The camouflage failed to take into account the odor of the liquor.

Haphazard

By JESSIE E. SHERWIN

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

"All vacations cut to a week." Thus the head stenographer of Meris & Co., a city mercantile house of extensive business prestige and narrow views as to the rights of their employees.

"Shameful," came an indignant chorus. "And no pay for the week spent away."

A rising storm of protest was speedily repressed as the manager of the establishment came into the room. There was one exception to the general group--Arlene Drury. The others sat with an angry frown on their faces. Her hands strayed from her typewriter, nevertheless, an expression of infinite disappointment crossed her features.

Arlene had lost her mother a year previous and had been cast utterly on her own resources. She was not an expert typist and had not acquired even the fundamentals of stenography. Her position, a poor-paying one, had been thrust upon her almost grudgingly, and became a work of such drudgery that she was too tired evenings to attempt to perfect herself in taking dictation.

To the usual vacation with a fortnight's extra pay Arlene had looked forward with glad anticipation. She had mapped out a stay at some cheap, but respectable summer resort. It seemed to her that alone by herself, mind and body at ease, she could think over present and future in a clear, coherent way.

The double announcement had upset all her plans. The circumscribed term of leisure seemed scarcely worth caring for. The withdrawal of salary during the period meant deprivation. She had saved less than $20. When she got home that night Arlene counted over her little fund and viewed the prospect dolorously. She had selected a resort, the five hours' ride to which would be quite a novel enjoyment. She retraversed the advertisements of places nearer the city. Ferndale--the fare thither was low--if she went on a vacation at all that must be the limit of fare expenditure.

It was just before noon on Monday that Arlene arrived at Ferndale. She found only a lonely station with a general store opposite. She was informed that the real town was two miles distant on the lake, comprising a fashionable hotel and the homes of rich people. There were no modest houses where one could expect moderate board and lodging, and the hotel was a $4 a day house.

Arlene sat down on a bench outside the little depot, gloomed and almost homesick, contemplating the necessity of returning to the city. She noticed only casually that an automobile had driven up containing a chauffeur and a matronly looking woman. The latter alighted as she caught sight of Arlene and came straight up to her.

"You are Miss Eva White?" she said half interrogatively. "We have been here daily since Monday expecting you, but feared you had found some other appointment. Mrs. Elston needs the care of a nurse greatly and she will indeed welcome you. John, will you take the lady's suitcase?" and almost before she was aware of it Arlene found herself in the auto with the good-natured housekeeper of one of the show places on the lake, telling her enough to know that a well-paid position was open to her.

"And why not?" whispered Arlene to herself, "if she does not come, what wrong is done by my having a free vacation and one useful and helpful as well," and both hopeful and tempted, Arlene Drury lent herself to a deception that was favored by the non-appearance of the real nurse that day and never.

For the first time in many years Arlene drifted contentedly into a new experience that was delightful. The invalid Mrs. Elston treated her as if she were some real friend instead of a dependent. The second day her son Harold, a tall, handsome young fellow about two years the senior of Arlene, appeared on a hasty jaunt from the city. He stared strangely when Arlene was introduced under her fictitious name. He followed her inquisitively with his glance, but when he noted that his mother regarded fondly, almost lovingly, he suppressed some powerful impulse that sought expression.

Two weeks went by, a month. All thoughts of returning to the city were abandoned by Arlene. Harold came to visit his mother twice a week, and he could not help but feel attracted toward the bright, intelligent companion of his mother, to whom she was as attentive and thoughtful as an own daughter. Arlene divined the dawning of a mutual love, each failed to conceal from the other, and one day, in the lovely garden of white shadows, when he confessed his affection, she bowed her head in humiliation.

"I am not Miss White--" she began; but he interrupted her gayly.

"Oh, I knew that the first day I met you," he declared, "for I had received word from the nurse that she could not come. When I found you here, and my dear mother getting better each day under your care, I only longed to have you remain. And now--"

That "now" was the vital hour of their young lives, where soul spoke to soul and Arlene told all the story of her life to her affianced husband.

ALDINE PUBLISHING HOUSE TO MOVE PLANT TO A NEW LOCATION

The Millen building, now the Davidson building, on Green street, the ground floor of which was formerly occupied by the Adams Express Co., is being enlarged repaired and remodeled for the occupancy of the Aldine Publishing House, which expects to be in the new location after September 15.

Both the ground floor and second story rooms will be occupied by the publishing house and an extension is being erected in the rear of the ground floor room extending the building to the alley line.

The Aldine House will also have the rear half of the room now occupied by the Peters Dry Cleaning establishment as this firm will move into another location September 1.

According to plans announced by George I. Graham, proprietor of the Aldine Publishing House, the ground floor will be renovated and fitted up for the office.

A new front with a vestibule entrance will be added, and a glass partition will divide the office from the rear of the two rooms, which will be used for the bindery, stock room and press room. The composing room will occupy the entire upstairs space.

In moving to the Green street site Mr. Graham will be vacating the rooms in the Gazette building which he has used for several years in order to make way for improvements to be started immediately by The Chew Publishing Co. to take care of extensive changes in the plant of the Gazette and Republican.

TALK ABOUT "SMALL STUFF," WELL THIS IS ABOUT SMALLEST EVER

Xenia is destined to enjoy its own peace and prosperity unmolested.

This is demonstrated by the fact that members of the Cincinnati Automobile Club are wearing huge banners on their machines, bearing the words "Keep Away from Xenia."

Are we to be freed from the menace of reckless Cincinnati automobile drivers? Happy thought.

If Cincinnati autoists want to continue breaking the law, they will not drag Xenia's fair name into being a party to the Bolshevism, at least.

And if life and property is to be the toll, we say, on with the boycott.

Xenia may be a small town but its citizens never would stoop to such an absolutely small thing as have the citizens of Cincinnati in issuing and displaying such placards.

WELCOME SOLDIERS

Extend the hand of welcome,

Our boys are coming home;
Let old Xenia show her colors,
Like that of ancient Rome.

Extend the hand of welcome,

Float Old Glory to the breeze;
Salute the loyal soldiers
Who fought across the seas.

Extend the hand of welcome,

Our part is only small,
When we think of those who struggled
Where the deadly missiles fall.

Extend the hand of welcome,

And spread a ray of cheer,
To radiate and gladden
The boys who have no fear.

Extend the hand of welcome,

And join the happy throng;
It is this that keeps us moving
And helps the world along.

Extend the hand of welcome

It binds our future ties,
And sows the seed of kindness
That grows, and never dies.

Extend the hand of welcome

To the mother and her boy;
Who shed tears of sorrow,
But now are full of joy.

Extend the hand of welcome

And hope that you may please
Some hearts that may be saddened
By graves across the seas.

WHEAT SEEDING MUST BE DELAYED IN ORDER TO AVOID HESSIAN FLY

To prevent the Hessian Fly from taking a large toll from the 1920 wheat crop it will be more necessary to observe seeding dates more exactly than for years past. The recent wheat insect survey made by the entomology forces of the state and county agents showed quite a heavy infestation of the fly in the wheat sections of the state. In our county, fly infested from 5 to 40 per cent of this year's crop, averaging about 10 per Gastritis, Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion Kept Him in a Weakened Run-down State.

The New Root and Herb Medicine, Dreco, Overcame All His Troubles.

"I am gaining more weight every day since I started to take Dreco, and I feel overjoyed at my improved condition," stated Mr. Otis Tippet, Foreman at the New Method Laundry, on North Fourth St., Columbus, O., where he has been employed a long time.

"The papers were daily telling about some person right here in town, who had been helped by Dreco; lots of them suffered just as I did. That gave me confidence in Dreco, because I knew if these reports were not true, they would not give people's names and I addresses here."

I always believed in root and herb medicines anyhow, so I bought a bottle of Dreco. It knocked out my constipation almost immediately; my appetite picked up; pains in my back over my kidneys eased off, and my liver became active, overcoming the biliousness and dizzy spells. I began to gain weight and strength, and today I'm in better shape than I have been for months. Dreco is surely a medicine of merit, and I gladly recommend it."

After taking Dreco, it is soon noticed that the bowel action becomes regular; the kidneys stronger; the lazy liver takes on new life, and the stomach digests the food better. That tired, achy, drowsy feeling passes off; sleep becomes sound, and the whole system is invigorated.

Dreco does not contain any iron, mercury, potash, acids or oils, but is a vegetable remedy from roots and herbs.

cent for Greene county as a whole.

The habits of this insect are such that it generally emerges in early September and if it finds young wheat to deposit its eggs upon, a heavy infestation occurs in the wheat that fall and the next season. If the wheat is sown at a later date, the flies emerge and die before they can find wheat to deposit eggs upon. This was found to be true by experiments made during the disastrous fly attack of 1900-01, and by tests made last year on county experiment farms. In both cases very little infection was found upon wheat sowed in the latter part of September, but earlier-sown wheat was heavily infested.

Since there is also a spring brood of fly, late seeding is only partially effective unless entire neighborhoods cooperate, thus preventing the development of any fall brood at all.

The fly free date for Greene county as given out by the Experiment station is Sept. 28-30. Wheat seeding in Greene county, to be safe must be delayed until that time.

The county agent is preparing to make observations on the hatching out of the fly and due notice of this work will be given in the papers. If wheat can safely be seeded before Sept. 28 ample warning will be given out.

This fight against fly is a community fight. If one farmer in each school district seeds his wheat before September 28th, he puts all the other wheat in his community in jeopardy.

It should be remembered that Hessian Fly is the only insect that ever causes a complete failure in the wheat crop.

GENERAL PERSHING BIDS FAREWELL TO FRANCE AND SAILS FOR U. S. A.

By John T. Parkinson.
Brest, Sept. 1.—Amidst the plaudits of the French and the affectionate farewells of his officers and doughboys, General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Force in France, sailed for the United States today after a stay in France of over two years. A squadron of warships in the harbor fired a salute as the Leviathan with General Pershing and a number of other American soldiers on board moved from her moorings and steamed slowly towards the open sea.

Among the last of the noted persons to say farewell to the American commander-in-chief was Marshal Foch, Generalissimo of the allied armies. Marshal Foch had motored from his farm to Brest and held a lengthy conversation with General Pershing before the transport sailed. General Pershing thanked the famous French veteran profusely for his felicitations and the parting was a most cordial one. Marshal Foch wished the American soldier godspeed and they repeatedly shook hands. At the final moment the marshal kissed General Pershing upon both cheeks. The farewells between Marshal Foch and General Pershing took place upon the dock of the transport where the two talked for an hour before the Leviathan left.

Marshal Foch said he wished to thank the Americans through General Pershing for what they had done for France and he was extremely laudatory for their services and in his praise of the valor of the American soldiers.

"There is bound to be eternal friendship between France and the United States," declared the marshal at the parting.

The generalissimo said he hoped to visit American as soon as his duties at home would permit him to leave.

When the marshal returned to the dock he stood at the rail and waved until the Leviathan was out of sight.

General Pershing arrived from Paris at 8:30 o'clock. He was met by Marshal Foch, the admiral of the port, the mayor, many military officers and civilian notables. A French naval and military guard of honor was drawn up outside of the station.

After informal ceremonies lasting about 15 minutes General Pershing and his party boarded a naval lighter and were carried out to the big transport.

A French band played the Star Spangled banner as the general went on board the lighter. The decks of the nearby warships were crowded with sailors and officers who cheered and waved.

There was no American guard of honor, but hundreds of American officers and doughboys lined the cliffs overlooking the harbor and waved hats and handkerchiefs. Their cheers came faintly down from the heights to the persons gathered on the craft in the harbor.

General Pershing was accompanied by his young son, "Sergeant" Warren Pershing.

Before leaving Paris General Pershing showed that he was deeply moved by the clash with the congressional committee on war expenditures and treatment of prisoners. The general read the statements issued by members of the committee as he restlessly paced up and down his headquarters. He explained that he thought the request of the committee for him to testify on the last day of his stay in Paris was most unreasonable.

EVERY TRAIN AND CAR BRINGS SOLDIERS AND VISITORS TO XENIA

The first train into the city Monday morning carried a full load of soldiers and home-folks coming to help celebrate Greene County's Homecoming Celebration.

Before the day had well begun it was anticipated that the crowds in the city would be enormous and each succeeding train carried more celebrators to the affair. The service men began registering early and the registrars were kept busy during the hours of registration.

The men also secured their government buttons and honor badges and added them to the decorations on their uniforms. By far the majority of the lads were in uniform and the streets were crowded with khaki and O. D. clad soldiers, mingled with the forest green of Marines and the blue of sailors.

Early indications were that the day would be the biggest in the history of the county.

SALVATION ARMY SERVED 12,000,000 MEALS LAST YEAR

Last year the Salvation Army gave away over twelve million meals. When it is considered that nobody comes to the Salvation Army for food until he or she is indeed in the extremity of need one can conjecture only what a great distress was relieved by this food which was furnished without money and without price.

Beds were furnished to an almost equal number which otherwise would have slept in parks or police stations. The daily work of the army is inspired however by a purpose more important than merely filling a stomach or providing a place to sleep. Every Salvationist works with the purpose in view to fit the recipient of relief to re-enter the arena of life and fight a winning battle. It is not enough to win and clothe a man or woman. Until that one is again a productive and law abiding member of human society the Salvationist regards his work as only half done.

NEED UNDERTAKER NOT A DOCTOR

Dayton, O., Sept. 1.—"You'll need an undertaker when I get through." This, police say, was the reply of "Big" Della Connerston, thirty, to her husband Frank, when he pleaded for actor after she had shot him five times.

The wife then secured a razor, according to the police, and almost severed Connerston's head from his body.

OUR OWN OHIO

Findlay—Blackbirds and sparrows are damaging the kaffir corn, feterita and milo maize in many parts of Hancock county, according to John A. Sutton, of the experiment farm.

Canton—An ordinance forbidding the lighting of matches, or the use of any other fire, in a passenger, or freight, elevator in this city, has become effective. The ordinance requires the posting of rules in all elevators.

Bucyrus—Levy H. Walters was fined $15 and costs for assault on his brother, William D. Walters. Levy paid the fine and costs and then immediately prepared to file a counter charge against his brother.

Dayton—Through the health office of the city welfare department, City Attorney W. S. McConaughy has been directed to draw up an ordinance providing for the quarantine of dogs.

Under the proposed ordinance, all canines will have to remain at home, or be shot unless they are able to show good cause for being at large—such as auto rides.

The health office officials claim that four mad dogs were found in two weeks, making seven since June 4. Six persons are taking the Pasteur treatment.

Columbus—An orphan after being admitted to an orphanage here, seven-year-old Homer Cook, of Portsmouth, was reported to the police as missing. Finding the child wandering in the streets near her residence, Mrs. R. L. Osborne took him in keeping him over night. After breakfast, Mrs. Osborne telephoned the police. The lad, hearing her talking about him, again disappeared. The police began a search for him.

SAVE MAN'S LEG BY GRAFTING SHEEP BONE

Carrollton, Mo., Sept. 1.—With the grafting of the bone of a sheep on the shinbone of Sam Williams, a farmer of Miami Station, near here, the necessity of amputating the limb was removed, and Mr. Williams will be as well as ever, doctors say. Following a fracture of the shinbone necrosis set in and amputation seemed necessary. At a local hospital four inches of the bone was removed and two pieces of bone taken from a sheep's leg grafted on. The graft is proving successful, and the leg will be saved.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF GEORGE W. WHITMER

Tribute to the memory of George W. Whitmer, assistant trainmaster on the Cincinnati division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was paid by officials of the Pennsylvania system, scores of other railroad men, and many friends, who attended the funeral services which were held at the Whitmer home on South Detroit street, Saturday afternoon.

A special train which was run to this city from Cincinnati carried about 75 railroad men from that city and way stations, and from Pittsburgh, Columbus, Richmond, and other places, came additional people to pay a tribute to the memory of the man who always commanded respect and affection from his associates, business and personal.

The service was brief and simple. Mr. Whitmer's pastor, the Rev. A. J. Kestle of the First M. E. Church, read the scriptures offered prayer and gave a discourse. He read three hymns that were favorites of Mr. Whitmer's, "I Am Going Home to Die No More," "How Tedious and Tasteless the Hours," and "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Interment was made in Woodland cemetery, those serving as pallbearers being, John Daly, road foreman of engines; S. L. Mider, of Cincinnati, trainmaster, and William Folger of Cincinnati, assistant trainmaster; Minor Monroe of the claim department of the Pennsylvania lines; Roy Jones, clerk in Mr. Whitmer's office, and John Gardner, Jr., of Cincinnati.

Superintendent Barnard of the Cincinnati division was among those attending the funeral. C. E. Northrup of Pittsburgh was also here for the service.

ANNUAL REUNION OF PETERSON FAMILY IS HAPPY AFFAIR

A large representation of the members of the Peterson family attended the annual family reunion which was held Saturday in the grove on what was formerly the Abel Peterson farm, that has been the scene of so many happy reunions. The occasion was of special interest as it marked the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the annual reunion of the family. Only nine persons who were present at the first reunion fifty years ago were present at the reunion Saturday. They are J. W. Peterson, Isaac N. Peterson, Hannah M. Rader, Mrs. Kate Peterson Harrison, Mrs. Horace McMillan, Mrs. Emma Middleton, Mrs. Ada McKay, John L. Peterson. A large number of the members of the family resided in the immediate vicinity of the picnic grounds at the time the first reunion was held, and owned large tracts of land which had been purchased by the pioneer ancestors of the family, who emigrated from Virginia to that locality in the year 1813.

During the last few years the family has become widely scattered, but the ties of blood and of love still bind them closely together and Saturday eighty members of the family were present and enjoyed a sumptuous picnic dinner and a day of informal visiting.

As is customary at the reunions the early history of the family was reviewed and a sketch of the family, giving incidents of interest in the lives of the members of the family who first came to this country from Switzerland, was read by Dr. V. E. Thornton, of Cincinnati. The family history covers a period of two hundred years and the records are carefully preserved by the members of the present generation of the family.

The grove in which the reunion was held has always been in the possession of the family and has lately been bought by Paul Peterson, a great grandson of the original owner of the tract.

Among the members of the family from a distance who were in attendance at the reunion Saturday, were Mrs. J. K. Martin and three children, John, Nell, Donald McKay, and Catherine, from Atlanta, Ga.; C. W. McDonald, of Cottage Hill, Fla.; Mrs. W. P. McGarey and daughter, Marjorie, of Sterling, Kan.; Mrs. C. A. McKay and Miss Nelle McKay, Sterling, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thompson and son Ralph, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Thornton and daughter Mary Low, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Grace Peterson Colvin and daughters, Amy Frances Colvin and Mrs. Howard Bryan, of Delaware.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL MAKE AN EFFORT TO END STRIFE IN INDUSTRY

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson in a Labor Day message to American workers announces that he will call in the near future a conference of representatives of labor and putting the whole question of wages upon another footing.

The Labor Day message, as made public at the White House, follows: "I am encouraged and gratified by the progress which is being made in controlling the cost of living. The support of the movement is widespread and I confidently look for substantial results, although I must counsel patience as well as vigilance because such results will not come instantly or without team work.

"Let me again emphasize my appeal to every citizen of the country to continue to give his personal support in this matter, and to make it as active as possible."

"Let him not only refrain doing anything which at the moment will tend to increase the cost of living, but let him do all in his power to increase the production; and further than that let him at the time himself carefully economize in the matter of consumption.

"By common action in this direction we shall overcome a danger greater than the danger of war.

"We will hold steady a situation which is fraught with possibilities of hardship and suffering to a large part of our population; we will enable the processes of production to overtake the process of consumption, and we will speed the restoration of an adequate purchasing power for wages.

"I am particularly gratified at the support which the government's policy has received from the representatives of organized labor, and I earnestly hope that the workers generally will emphatically endorse the positions of their leaders and thereby move with the government instead of against it in the solution of this greatest domestic problem.

"I am calling for as early a date as practicable a conference in which representatives of labor and those who direct labor will discuss fundamental means of bettering their whole question of wages upon another footing."

President Wilson has been asked by the United Mine Workers of America to order a federal investigation of the alleged "murder" August 26 of an aged man and a woman at the Allegheny Steel company's plant at Brackenridge, Pa., by the companies mine guards "disguised as a guard."

Secretary Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor today made public the text of messages sent to the president by John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers and Phillip Murray, president of the organization western Pennsylvania district, urging a thorough investigation to fix responsibility for this crime.

One of the alleged victims, a miner, was overtaken by a deputy while walking peacefully down the street. Mr. Murray charged, and beaten into a "helpless pulp," after which another deputy fired five bullets at the man. A few minutes later, another deputy was ordered by the superintendent of the mine, the message charged to "kill" Mrs. Fannie Selling, an organizer, sent into the district by the United Mine workers, who standing nearby, it was said, had appealed to the deputies to spare the aged miner's wife. At the superintendent's order, it was said, Mrs. Selling turned to flee and was then shot in the back and killed by one of the deputies.

Previous to the alleged killings, the deputies it was charged, had "opened fire on a number of men, women and children, who were grouped around their homes."

In response to a telegram received today from Mr. Lewis, Mr. Morrison said he would endeavor to secure a congressional investigation of the trouble.

EAST LIVERPOOL AFTER SPEEDERS

East Liverpool, Sept. 1.—As a result of the utter disregard of repeated warnings by the police against auto speeding, an ultimatum has been issued by Police Chief McDermott.

Manslaughter charges will be preferred against auto drivers accused of responsibility for deaths resulting from auto smashups.

Stern measures will be resorted to in the cases of persons who round dangerous curves at street intersections on "high."

INDIVIDUALS WILL SOON OWN AIRSHIPS

Mansfield, Sept. 1.—That it will be only a very short time until there will be hundreds of individually-owned airplanes in Ohio is the belief expressed by local enthusiasts.

They point out, however, that progress along this line will be governed largely by the activity shown in

MAKES SUPREME SACRIFICE TO SAVE HIS TRAIN

Cleveland, Sept. 1.—Leaving a joint celebration of the sixtieth birthday of his wife and the safe return of his son Harry, reported killed in action in action in France, Engineer Thos. J. Sankey went to his death last night and in so doing saved the lives of several hundred passengers on the New York Central 20th century limited.

Engineer Sankey took out the fast train he has piloted for years as usual last night and was speeding along about a half mile east of Painesville when he saw a freight train moving slowly eastward on a parallel track. The freight cars were flung across the path of the on-coming express. Engineer Sankey in a flash realized the situation and applying the emergency brakes appreciably lessened the speed of the flying passenger train. There was not time to make a complete stop but sticking to his post Engineer Sankey brought the long train of humans to a stop just as the engine nosed into the scattered wreckage.

He had made his supreme sacrifice in saving his train. Flying timbers from the freight wreckage struck him as he leaned out of his cab to better size up the situation. His first accident in 45 years service for the New York Central was his last one. The express train continued its way as soon as the tracks were cleared, with a new engine.

"It was the only way he wanted to go—on duty," sobbed his wife who was told of the death of her husband as the family celebration was about to come to a close.

OHIO SOILS NEED GREAT DEAL MORE LIME THAN IS USED

Ohio needs five million tons of lime stone annually to replace what is lost by soil acids, leaching and tile drainage, and cropping according to soil specialists of the Ohio State University. Thus far, less than 200,000 tons have ever been used on Ohio soils in one year. Drainage removes from 200 to 800 pounds per acre each year. Four tons of alfalfa removes 390 pounds; three tons of red clover 230 pounds; two tons of soy beans, 180 pounds, and two tons of timothy 25 pounds.

While the tile drainage removes limestone, the soil specialist do not suggest eliminating drainage, as its benefits are greater than the loss that it occasions. They say that both drainage and the application of limestone are necessary.

DOLLARS FOR DOUGH-NUTS IS THE SLOGAN

"Dollars for Doughnuts" was the slogan enthusiastically adopted by a big meeting of young women from the local girls societies held in Christ Church Parish House Friday evening where plans were made for the Salvation Army "Tag Doughnut" today. Mrs. Earl Lawson was unanimously chosen chairman of a committee of five which will complete detailed plans by which upwards of one hundred workers will sell "Tag Doughnuts" for the Salvation Army at the home coming celebration. The other committee members are Miss Lucia Tenner, Miss Mildred Confer, Miss Schaefer and Miss Julia Wolf. The hearty co-operation of one hundred workers was pledged at the meeting and the young women only await the committee's instructions. Headquarters for the "Taggers" will be in the offices of T. J. Zell, chairman of the local campaign committee. The work of the Salvation Army here and overseas was explained by organizer Captain R. A. Beard, 135th Field Artillery, who related experiences during the big war.

The personnel and temper of the big force of Tag Day workers promises results of a surprising character and if Green county does not go over the top with a bang on today in the Salvation Army campaign it won't be in any degree the fault of the organization which Captain Beard declares to be the best he has yet seen in the army's present campaign. Practically all church denominations and girls societies here were represented at the meeting which was attended by the Reverend and Mrs. Herron, through whose courtesy the use of the parish house was extended.

By a Certain Blind Poet.

The little girl who inquired at a library for "The Four Horses in the Encyclopaedia" had lots of company in that sort of blunder. EARTHS IN SOLAR SYSTEM

Thousands of Asteroids, Mostly Small, Known to Be Swirling Around the Sun.

Swirling around the sun between the planets Mars and Jupiter there are more than a thousand little earths, ranging in diameter from three to 485 miles. These are known as the asteroids, and although they pursue their individual ways in the solar system, much like our own globe they are too small to support any sort of life, being unable to hold an atmosphere.

From time to time new asteroids are discovered, not by astronomers patiently peering at the heavens through a telescope, but by means of the photographic plate. A thousand have already been found, but it is likely that thousands of smaller asteroids remain to be discovered.

The four largest asteroids, Ceres, Pallas, Vesta and Juno, are respectively 485, 304, 243 and 118 miles in diameter. A few more asteroids may exceed 100 miles in diameter, but the great majority are simply huge rocks five miles or less in diameter. Unlike the major planets, the asteroids are not spheres, but simply jagged rocks, huge mountains hurtling through space, whirling round and round on their axis as they journey about the sun.

Possibly, as some have suggested, they may be the larger fragments of periodic comets of unusual size that have in the course of ages been shorn of their appendages.

LIKE GEM IN RARE SETTING

Lake Kluahne, Close to Arctic Circle, Is Beautiful Spot Seldom Visited by Man.

Lying amid the heights of encircling mountains as a mere dewdrop in a titanic crinkle of the continental surface, is the 50-mile length of Lake Kluahne, once reputed source of the Yukon, flowing from its 1,200 miles or more north, northwest and southwest to Bering sea. Barely 350 miles south of the arctic circle, southern boundary of perpetual snow and ice, it is compassed about with mountain ranges and peaks rising abruptly from its waters, says Christian Science Monitor.

The shores of the lake are bare of vegetation, save for the dwarf birch and the hardy northern willow, tundra grasses and lesser shrub.

Lapped in the perpetual silence of the unpeopled North, sternly isolated, untouched by human presence, save for at long intervals a casual Indian or passing prospector, Lake Kluahne has in its very silence and sternness of aspect a beauty of that hardly expressed, indefinable, but none the less deeply felt nature which, conscious of it or not, is a main factor in holding the prospector or other man of the open places in his wandering ways. In the sand deserts of the South, or the mountain wilderness of the extreme Northwest alike.

Diamond Setting.

The following method of setting diamonds has been found to be the best: First drill the hole for the diamond to the usual depth, a little deeper than the greatest dimensions of the stone. The drilling should be done without lubricant, as oil of any kind tends to prevent the spelter from flowing smoothly.

This being done, the hole should be closed in slightly, just enough to make it out of round. The spelter is now poured into the hole, filling it completely, and the diamond, held in a pair of tweezers, is pushed into the liquid spelter in the hole until it strikes the bottom. In doing this an amount of spelter equal to the displacement of the diamond is pushed out of the hole, and when this drop of spelter makes its appearance it is certain that there are no vacant spots under the stone.

After the spelter has cooled the end of the rod in which the diamond is located can be shaped up in the customary manner. The fact that the hole is slightly out of round prevents the core of spelter from working out of the end of the rod.

Introduced Lilac to Europe.

There are men who in a lesser sphere have been givers of gifts which are enjoyed by millions, though their own names may have slipped out of the memory of the world, says the Boston Transcript.

Such a man was Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq. He was born in the pleasant town of Comines, in Flanders, now half French, half Belgian, with the River Lys between, almost four hundred years ago and educated in a university at Louvain which now, alas, is laid low. Busbecq was a collector, and when he was sent by the Emperor Ferdinand as ambassador to the Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent, on his return brought manuscript and coins and plants home to Vienna. And among these plants was the lilac.

Ancient Battle Standards.

It is probable that the first flag was carried by the Sarcens in their battles with the Crusaders, the latter adopting the idea, which thus spread over Europe. Long before that there had been national standards, however, as the ancient Egyptians carried, before their hosts the figure of a sacred animal on a spear. A stuffed cat impaled on a stick was the forerunner of the banners now used. In the days of the old Persian empire a blacksmith's apron was carried aloft at the head of the army, while the standard of the Turks was a horse's tail.

EIGHT KILLED IN RIOTING IN KNOXVILLE

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 1.—With eight dead, two whites and six negroes killed in intermittent rioting between the races here since Saturday night, the fourth regiment of the Tennessee national guard and more than 1,000 special deputies are today patrolling the streets, machine guns mounted at vantage points and prepared to put down any further fighting.

In the meantime, a score or more white men, all heavily armed are reported enroute to Chattanooga seeking Maurice Mayes, negro, accused of attacking Mrs. Bertie Lindsey.

MINISTERS PRESENT APPEAL CONCERNING CHILD WELFARE

"The back to school drive" a nation wide movement of reconstruction to return to school promptly for the entire year all children of school age, and to keep both boys and girls in school, through the high school course, is being placed before the people by the Ohio Committee on Child Welfare.

Miss Lucia B. Johnson, secretary of the Ohio Committee sent out an appeal to the church people of the state, which was made in Xenia yesterday through all local ministers who could be reached. They set forth the object of the movement to their congregations, and urged co-operation.

The movement originated in conditions incident to and following the war, first because of the amazing percentage of illiteracy among men drafted into the United States Army, and secondly, the necessary extension of the employment certificate privilege during the period of the war to children of families whose financial head was in the service.

Since the Greene county Committee on School Welfare has as yet no permanent secretary, all cases in need of any sort of help for return to school should be reported to Miss Bertha Trebein, chairman of the county committee on School Welfare, 1225 North Detroit street, Xenia, or Miss Helen Boyd, chairman of the publicity committee on School Welfare, the Dodds Apartments, Xenia.

HEADACHE

Caused by

Acid-Stomach

Yes, indeed, more often than you think. Because ACID-STOMACH, starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, flatulence and gas, if not checked, will eventually affect every vital organ of the body. Severe, blinding, splitting headaches are therefore, of frequent occurrence, as a result of this set condition.

Take EATONIC. It quickly banishes acid-stomach with its sour blood, pain and gas. It aids digestion—helps the stomach get full strength from every mouthful of food you eat. Millions of people are miserable, weak, sick and ailing because of ACID-STOMACH. Poisons, created by partly digested food charged with acid, are absorbed into the blood and distributed throughout the entire system. This often causes rheumatism, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble, ulcers and even cancer of the stomach. It robs its victims of their health, undermines the strength of the most vigorous.

If you want to get back your physical and mental strength—be full of vim and vigor—enjoy life and be happy, you must get rid of your acid-stomach.

In EATONIC you will find the very help you need and it's guaranteed. So get a big box from your druggist today. If it fails to please you, return it and he will refund your money.

SOLDIERS WILL HELP BOOST THE DOUGHNUT SALE

Those paper doughnuts which the girls of Xenia will offer at the Homecoming celebration in exchange for a contribution to the Salvation Army may not be good to eat but they cannot be despised on that account for they commemorate the really and truly doughnuts which were fried under shell fire in the trenches of Flanders and which on many memorable occasions constituted the only food the American soldier had. A typical instance of how those war time doughnuts were made and served is told by a returning trooper. He tells of two Salvation Army lassies who were frying doughnuts in a place so close to the enemy that their lives were in constant danger. The officer commanding the troops at that point asked them to move back toward the rear so as to lessen the danger.

"We have as much right to die here as you have," replied one of the girls and the boys had their doughnuts and coffee that day as usual.

"Don't neglect your tires just because they stay up and give you long service."

"In these days when the science of manufacture has progressed to the stage where high mileages, unknown in the earlier days, are now the general rule, it is convenient for many to drive recklessly along without thought or regard for their tires."

"Tires need attention the same as your motor. They need to be properly fitted to the rim and wheel. They must be turned up and the wheels must be aligned regularly. Gashes and cuts picked up on sharp stones or trolley switches should be treated and cared for like any wound. There's a way to do this at a cost of only a few cents. Any reliable tire dealer can provide you with Fillicut and show you how to use it."

"Look out for those little things regularly, make a habit of it, and you'll add many more miles to your tire life and obtain the full service that modern tire construction builds into your casings."—Service Manager of the Fisk Rubber Co.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—Charles Green, a colored watchman at a local bakery, heard a noise early in the morning and decided to investigate. He found three men entering the bakery. They fired their revolvers at him.

When Patrolmen Dick Hammond and William Batswell arrived they found Green who told them of the shooting.

"Did you run?" they asked. "No, sah," replied Green, "I didn't run, I jes' evaporated."

THRASHING MACHINE CUTS HORSE'S TAIL

Pleasant Hill, Mo., Sept. 1.—A horse belonging to Charles Jowell, a farmer near here, was the victim of a painful and rather unusual accident. The horse, while standing near a thrashing machine going full blast, switched its tail into the machine and the wheel twisted it off in a few seconds.

Philadelphia Transit Expert May Become Head of New York Traction Company.

Thomas E. Mitten, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company.

Thomas E. Mitten, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, and noted transit expert, has been offered the presidency of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company of New York, according to reports from Philadelphia. Mr. Mitten is a staunch advocate of five cent fares, believing that economies introduced into the service will offset any additional cost of materials. New York bankers, it is said, are planning a consolidation of all surface, subway and elevated lines in Manhattan, with Mr. Mitten as head.

AL DROP IN LIVESTOCK PRICES.

between the eyes, has come a sensational drop in pork, to our raisers this last week. On the price at Chicago was about or above $21, and in four days had dropped $3. And cattle and sheep, in Lath with the crusade against Co. C. L., have also lost out. In fact, as the dispatches "the market was paralyzed."

The packers, with thousands of pounds of high-priced meats endangered by the public rebellion against profiteering, were not inclined to start a downfall of retail prices by yielding at the new low rate. At the same time, experts are convinced that before the gathering flood of bought livestock, the cost of meat the retail market must break down in the next few days.

At present the situation is one which is equally unprofitable for the stock raisers, the packers and the public. The stockmen are pretty sure to lose money if they sell, because they have paid high prices for the feed on which the stock was raised. The packers are faced by a certainty at a break in the price of retail meat will net them a loss on the great quantities of meat they have in store, for which they paid at the high prices of a month ago.

The public learn that the price of pork and beef is falling at a word-breaking rate, but on going to the butcher shop discovers the price the movement cannot be after my reduction of prices.

After the price of retail meat Helen V the decline, which is certainly an overstocked market, declare, on the firm with which the public main-miles present refusal to buy at exorbitant rates.

At the same time livestock men ped in exceptionally large lots of cattle, hogs and sheep. Many of them believed that prices were about to go down. Others feared a railroad strike. They rushed their stock market and glutted the yards.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS.

EVERETT EXPLAINS TO SANDRA CHAPTER LV.

When I found the little apologetic note gone, I fairly raved in my disappointment and anger. That I should so have humiliated myself, and for nothing! I rushed into my own room, almost knocking Mrs. Gray down as she passed me in the hall.

"Why, what is it?" she asked, staring at me.

"Please come to my room. I want to ask you a question," I panted.

"What is it?" she asked with real concern in her voice after I had closed the door.

"I was she—the first, Mr. Graham's wife, was she awfully smart and I she read and study after she was married?"

"She was smart, yes, very bright and witty. But I don't think she studied much after she was married. She read a good deal though—mostly novels."

"Did she give up all her young friends and stay at home?"

"Why—no—she had a good many who came here, and whom she visited. May I ask you why you are making yourself unhappy over these things, Mrs. Graham?"

"I want to do as she did. Mr. Graham admired her. I would like to know all she did to win his admiration."

"I answered, my pride uppermost for once. I would not complain, although I knew well enough that Mrs. Gray realized that something out of the ordinary was the matter with me. I determined not to go down to dinner. I told Mrs. Gray my head ached, and asked her to excuse me to Mr. Graham. I would have some tea and later."

About ten minutes after she had left, and while I sat dismally by the window, seeing out of the window, seeing because of my tears, Everett came in. I said, hastily drying my eyes, "Gray tells me you wish to be from dinner. If you are Sandra, I will gladly excuse if you are simply giving way or because you can't go to tea. Sloane and her guest, I expect you in your place as usual."

Then, without waiting for any reply, he left me.

There was no use to pretend with him. He saw through my every subterfuge. So I bathed my face, and dressed, then joined him at the table. As usual with him, he made no reference to what had happened but talked easily upon different subjects. Then, after we had finished our coffee, he said:

"I will explain the course of study I have laid out for you." He drew a chair for me and one for himself up to the library table. Then he took from his pocket a folded paper on which were list of books, and the hours to be devoted to the perusal or study of each subject.

Shamed, embarrassed tears filled my eyes. I had graduated from high school, and had been one of the first scholars in my studies. He noticed and said:

"I trust we are to have no trouble about this."

"That shows your childishness. I would give a great deal if I had the time to take up a course of study."

usual." Then, without waiting for any reply, he left me.

"That shows your childishness. I would give a great deal if I had the time to take up a course of study."

It was on my lips to say that if he remained away from Mrs. Barton's and the club he would have the time, but instead I said nothing—just cried softly.

"May I ask you one question, Everett, and will you answer me?"

"Yes?"

"When you were age, 19, didn't you want any young company? Were you contented to be with older people all the time? And when you were asked somewhere just with two boys your own age, wouldn't you have felt badly to be told you had to stay home and study?"

"It seems to me you have asked three questions instead of one. But I will answer 'yes' to all of them all. But that was because I did not know at that age what was best for me. What I do for you is because I am trying to make your future happy." I said no more. What was the use? But I cried myself to sleep.

The next day Mrs. Barr came. But I disliked her from the moment I saw her, and instead of listening or trying to understand the lesson in French, I was thinking of Mrs. Sloane and her charming niece Marion, and wondering what they thought of me for not coming after my promise.

Had I known Barrett Edmonds was with them, and that they had told him I had accepted then excused myself, I would have been more chagrined than I was.

To-morrow—Mrs. Gray Gives Sandra wise Counsel.

REQUIRES 39 DAYS FOR COW TO FURNISH FAMILY'S MILK SUPPLY

It takes 39 days for the average Ohio cow to produce the annual milk supply for the average Ohio family. The average family of the state consumes 68 1-4 gallons.

In order that the cow may give this milk, she must be fed 3-10 more of pasture, 635 pounds of silage, 48 pounds each of cotton seed meal and oilmeal, 49 pounds of corn, 50 pounds of oats, 190 pounds of hay, 106 pounds of corn stover, and three pounds of salt. In the bedding 176 pounds of material are used. It takes a man 18 1-5 hours to milk the cow 78 times during the 39 days and for her care. Among other items entering into the cost of milk, aside from the original investment, are the upkeep of the dairy, barn and its equipment for feeding and watering, the herd, taxes, insurance, veterinary service, and transportation of milk to country and thence to city milk plants, where the milk is clarified, tested, pasteurized, iced, and put into sterilized bottles. It then has to be delivered by the milkman, who must be ready, rain or shine 365 days in the year.

At 15 cents a quart the annual milk bill for the average family for 68 1-4 gallons is $40.95.

THE COMMUNITY BURDEN

"CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS"

Shame, Fear, Deceit and a Guilty Conscience all wrapped up in the mail order package. We should never be ashamed to look a neighbor in the face. In a community like ours, all are neighbors and friends, working together. Our interests are common. We are all in business together. Our business is home-town development. Unlike the overcrowded city, our community has a soul. We tamper with our community-soul whenever we boycott home interests. Then let us keep our conscience clear, let us so live that we can at any time look our neighbors in the face, knowing that no action of ours is holding back the progress of our own home town.

will always be welcomed in your home if you give Cream Crum Bread a trial.

Loyalty Is Due Home Merchants

Loyalty of the people of Greene County is due the home merchants. These merchants at all times endeavor to please the people in their respective communities. It is the retail stores about which communities are built. In order to prosper these stores need all the business there is in their respective territories and the buying public should give them all their trade instead of dividing it with mail order houses or by patronizing traveling wagons from nearby cities. If these mail order houses or outside wagons could give the buying public more for their money or better goods there would be some reason for outside buying. But when the matter is carefully considered the home merchant can give just as high class goods and when everything is considered his prices are lower. If you buy from a wagon representing an outside concern you are often given premiums but in the end you will pay for them in hard cash. When you trade with a mail order house you must add the cost of freight or express to your purchase which in most cases makes the article cost more than your home merchant charges.

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINETY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city.

"But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and sniff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcine say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

If Your Nerves Are Shaky Because of Over-Indulgence in Tobacco or Alcohol or by Excess of Any Kind, Bio-Feren is What You Need Right Away.

Don't grow old before your time, don't let nervousness wreck your happiness or chances in life. The man with strong, steady nerves is full of vigor, energy, ambition and confidence.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keep mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition.

All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

Mr. Shinn died at the age of 98 years. During his young manhood he was employed by a firm of Hivings in this city, his duty being to carry silks by saddle-bags from Philadelphia on horseback. Later he was a member of the firm.

The list of contributors to the band fund, found among Mr. Shinn's papers is as follows:

STREET DECORATIONS DAMAGED BY STORM

A heavy rain and wind storm that swept over Xenia Saturday night played havoc with Home Coming decorations which were put up during the past few days.

Fortunately, however, the decorations were not damaged beyond repair and Fred F. Graham, who has the decorating contract, had workmen on the streets Sunday repairing the disordered decorations.

The big white pillars along Main street, withstood the small gale that blew but the flags of the nations on top of them were disordered and some of them blown down. Flags and bunting on places of business in the business section and strung across the streets were in some cases torn completely down and had to be replaced, and in other cases were left barely hanging after the storm had passed over.

SOCIETY FINDS NEW WAY TO WASTE TIME

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 1.—Fishing from seaplanes is the latest sport of society leaders here. Craft owned by Loughhead brothers are often used and with their load of human freight of from six to ten persons sail out from shore, rise to several hundred feet and finally alight on the water at the fishing banks ten miles off this city. Good catches have resulted from every trip. Society prefers the seaplane to the launch, saying it is speedier with less danger of mal de mer, such as parties might experience in a boat.

KANSAS PROFESSOR GETS WILSON'S OLD JOB

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 1.—A Kansas professor for President Wilson's old job! No, not at the White House. Just at Bryan Mawr.

Professor G. H. Derry, a member of the faculty in the department of economics at the University of Kansas here, will leave at the end of the summer session to take charge of the department of economics at Bryan Mawr, where President Wilson formerly had charge in his earlier college work years.

HIDS HIS BOOZE UNDER AN OLD HEN

Macon, Ga., Sept. 1.—Three gallons of contraband whiskey was found in a hollow stump, under a nest in which a hen was setting on eggs in a box when Deputies E. C. Pierce, Ed Newberry and F. C. Tindal raided the house of R. F. Hayes, in Laurens County, recently. The camouflage failed to take into account the odor of the liquor.

Haphazard

By JESSIE E. SHERWIN

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

"All vacations cut to a week."

Thus the head stenographer of Merle & Co., a city mercantile house of extensive business prestige and narrow views as to the rights of their employees.

"Shameful," came an indignant chorus.
"And no pay for the week spent away."

A rising storm of protest was speedily repressed as the manager of the establishment came into the room.
There was one exception to the general group--Arlene Drury. The others sat with an angry luster of eye. Her hands strayed from her typewriter, nevertheless, an expression of infinite disappointment crossed her features.

Arlene had lost her mother a year previous and had been cast utterly on her own resources. She was not an expert typist and had not acquired even the fundamentals of stenography.
Her position, a poor-paying one, had been thrust upon her almost grudgingly, and became a work of such drudgery that she was too tired evenings to attempt to perfect herself in taking dictation.

To the usual vacation with a fort-night's extra pay Arlene had looked forward with glad anticipation. She had mapped out a stay at some cheap, but respectable summer resort. It seemed to her that alone by herself, mind and body at ease, she could think over present and future in a clear, coherent way.

The double announcement had upset all her plans. The circumscribed term of leisure seemed scarcely worth caring for. The withdrawal of salary during the period meant deprivation.
She had saved less than $20. When she got home that night Arlene counted over her little fund and viewed the prospect dolorously. She had selected a resort, the five hours' ride to which would be quite a novel enjoyment. She retraversed the advertisements of places nearer the city. Fer-dale--the place thither was low--if she went on a vacation at all that must be the limit of fare expenditure.

It was just before noon on Monday that Arlene arrived at Ferdale. She found only a lonely station with a general store opposite. She was informed that the real town was two miles distant on the lake, comprising a fashionable hotel and the homes of rich people. There were no modest houses where one could expect moderate board and lodging, and the hotel was a $4 a day house.

Arlene sat down on a bench outside the little depot, gloomed and almost homesick, contemplating the necessity of returning to the city. She noticed only casually that an automobile had driven up containing a chauffeur and a matronly looking woman. The latter alighted as she caught sight of Arlene and came straight up to her.

"You are Miss Eva White?" she said half interrogatively. "We have been here daily since Monday expecting you, but feared you had found some other appointment. Mrs. Elston needs the care of a nurse greatly and she will indeed welcome you. John, will you take the lady's suitcase?" and almost before she was aware of it Arlene found herself in the auto with the good-natured housekeeper of one of the show places on the lake, telling her enough to know that a well-paid position was open to the Miss Eva White, who had not appeared.

"And why not?" whispered Arlene to herself. "If she does not come, what wrong is done by my having a free vacation and one useful and helpful as well," and both hopeful and tempted, Arlene Drury lent herself to a deception that was favored by the non-appearance of the real nurse that day-- and never.

For the first time in many years Arlene drifted contentedly into a new experience that was delightful. The invalid Mrs. Elston treated her as if she were some real friend instead of a dependent. The second day her son Harold, a tall, handsome young fellow about two years the senior of Arlene, appeared on a hasty jaunt from the city. He stared strangely when Arlene was introduced under her fictitious name. He followed her inquisitively with his glance, but when he noted that his mother regarded fondly, almost lovingly, he suppressed some powerful impulse that sought expression.

Two weeks went by, a month. All thoughts of returning to the city were abandoned by Arlene. Harold came to visit his mother twice a week, and he could not help but feel attracted toward the bright, intelligent companion of his mother, to whom she was attentive and thoughtful as an own daughter. Arlene divined the dawning of a mutual love, each failed to conceal from the other, and one day, in the lovely garden of white shadows, when he confessed his affection, she bowed her head in humiliation.

"I am not Miss White--" she began;
but he interrupted her gaily.

"Oh, I knew that the first day I met you," he declared, "for I had received word from the nurse that she could not come. When I found you here, and my dear mother, getting better each day under your care, I only longed to have you remain. And now--"

That "now" was the vital hour of their young lives, where soul spoke to soul and Arlene told all the story of her life to her affianced husband.

Frank Stanley, of Clinton county, was the purchaser of the Compton farm of 258 acres two and one half miles from New Burlington, which was sold at public auction by Sheriff Funderburg at the main entrance to the court house Saturday morning.
The farm consists of three tracts, Mr.
Stanley paid $120 an acre for the farm.

Charles Scott, Xenia ice cream and candy manufacturer, bought the 98 acre farm known as the Lydia Mills farm in the same neighborhood, for $75 an acre. This farm adjoins the 120 acre farm which Mr. Scott already owned.

ALDINE PUBLISHING HOUSE TO MOVE PLANT TO A NEW LOCATION

The Milen building, now the Davidson building, on Green street, the ground floor of which was formerly occupied by the Adams Express Co., is being enlarged repaired and remodeled for the occupancy of the Aldine Publishing House, which expects to be in the new location after September 15.

Both the ground floor and second story rooms will be occupied by the publishing house and an extension is being erected in the rear of the ground floor room extending the building to the alley line.

The Aldine House will also have the rear half of the room now occupied by the Peters Dry Cleaning establishment as this firm will move into another location September 1.

According to plans announced by George I. Graham, proprietor of the Aldine Publishing House, the ground floor will be renovated and fitted up for the office.

A new front with a vestibule entrance will be added, and a glass partition will divide the office from the rear of the two rooms, which will be used for the bindery, stock room and press room. The composing room will occupy the entire upstairs space.

In moving to the Green street site Mr. Graham will be vacating the rooms in the Gazette building which he has used for several years in order to make way for improvements to be started immediately by The Chew Publishing Co., to take care of extensive changes in the plant of the Gazette and Republican.

TALK ABOUT "SMALL STUFF," WELL THIS IS ABOUT SMALLEST EVER

Xenia is destined to enjoy its own peace and prosperity un-molested.

This is demonstrated by the fact that members of the Cincinnati Automobile Club are wearing huge banners on their machines, bearing the words "Keep Away from Xenia."

Are we to be freed from the menace of reckless Cincinnati automobile drivers? Happy thought.

If Cincinnati motorists want to continue breaking the law, they will not drag Xenia's fair name into being a party to the Bolshevism, at least.

And if life and property is to be the toll, we say, on with the boycott.

Xenia may be a small town but its citizens never would stoop to such an absolutely small thing as have the citizens of Cincinnati in issuing and displaying such placards.

WELCOME SOLDIERS

Extend the hand of welcome,

Our boys are coming home;
Let old Xenia show her colors,
Like that of ancient Rome.

Extend the hand of welcome,

Float Old Glory to the breeze;
Salute the loyal soldiers
Who fought across the seas.

Extend the hand of welcome,

Our part is only small,
When we think of those who struggled
Where the deadly missiles fall.

Extend the hand of welcome,

And spread a ray of cheer,
To radiate and gladden
The boys who have no fear.

Extend the hand of welcome

And join the happy throng;
It is this that keeps us moving
And helps the world along.

Extend the hand of welcome

It binds our future ties,
And sows the seed of kindness
That grows, and never dies.

Extend the hand of welcome

To the mother and her boy;
Who shed tears of sorrow,
But now are full of joy.

Extend the hand of welcome

And hope that you may please
Some hearts that may be saddened
By graves across the seas.

WHEAT SEEDING MUST BE DELAYED IN ORDER TO AVOID HESSIAN FLY

To prevent the Hessian Fly from taking a large toll from the 1920 wheat crop it will be more necessary to observe seeding dates more exactly than for years past. The recent wheat insect survey made by the entomology forces of the state and county agents showed quite a heavy infestation of the fly in the wheat sections of the state. In our county, fly infested from 5 to 40 per cent of this year's crop, averaging about 10 per

NO REST DAY OR NIGHT FOR THIS LAUNDRY FOREMAN

Gastritis, Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion Kept Him in a Weakened Run-down State.

The New Root and Herb Medicine, Dreco, Overcame All His Troubles.

"I am gaining more weight every day since I started to take Dreco, and I feel overjoyed at my improved condition," stated Mr. Otis Tippet, Foreman at the New Method Laundry, on North Fourth St., Columbus, O., where he has been employed a long time.

"The papers were daily telling about some person right here in town, who had been helped by Dreco; lots of them suffered just as I did. That gave me confidence in Dreco, because I knew if these reports were not true, they would not give people's names and addresses here."

I always believed in root and herb medicines anyhow, so I bought a bottle of Dreco. It knocked out my constipation almost immediately; my appetite picked up; pains in my back over my kidneys eased off, and my liver became active, overcoming the biliousness and dizzy spells. I began to gain weight and strength, and today I'm in better shape than I have been for months. Dreco is surely a medicine of merit, and I gladly recommend it."

After taking Dreco, it is soon noticed that the bowel action becomes regular; the kidneys stronger; the lazy liver takes on new life, and the stomach digests the food better. That tired, achy, drowsy feeling passes off; sleep becomes sound, and the whole system is invigorated.

Dreco does not contain any iron, mercury, potash, acids or oils, but is a vegetable remedy from roots and herbs.

All good druggists now sell Dreco, and it is highly recommended in Xenia by Sohn's Drug Store. adv cent for Greene county as a whole.

The habits of this insect are such that it generally emerges in early September and if it finds young wheat to deposit its eggs upon, a heavy infestation occurs in the wheat that fall and the next season. If the wheat is sown at a later date, the flies emerge and die before they can find wheat to deposit eggs upon. This was found to be true by experiments made during the disastrous fly attack of 1900-01, and by tests made last year on county experiment farms. In both cases very little infection was found upon wheat sowed in the latter part of September, but earlier-sown wheat was heavily infested.

Since there is also a spring brood of fly, late seeding is only partially effective unless entire neighborhoods cooperate, thus preventing the development of any fall brood at all.

The fly free date for Greene county as given out by the Experiment station is Sept. 28-30. Wheat seeding in Greene county, to be safe must be delayed until that time.

The county agent is preparing to make observations on the hatching out of the fly and due notice of this work will be given in the papers. If wheat can safely be seeded before Sept. 28 ample warning will be given out.

This fight against fly is a community fight. If one farmer in each school district seeds his wheat before September 28th, he puts all the other wheat in his community in jeopardy.

It should be remembered that Hessian Fly is the only insect that ever causes a complete failure in the wheat crop.
